POSTAL REGULATORY COMMISSION
U.S. DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

Dear Sirs, Mrs.,

I was very happy with our US Postal Service before Louis DeJoy took over and made drastic and, in my opinion, unnecessary and illogical changes.

Because of his decisions animals died, prescriptions were late, food rotted and mail was delayed. How can this be considered anything but a huge mistake in leadership?

By its very definition the USPS is a SERVICE to the American people. It should definitely be partially funded by our government - and not be turned over to private contractors.

Now I hear DeJoy is planning more chaos in his 10-year plan. He needs to go before he can do any more damage.

Sincerely hoping you will get rid of this menace.
